

STECKLER VISITS THE NORTH.

HOW CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND IMPRESSED HIM.

He Thinks That the Parks of Halifax Suggest a Lesson in Economy for New York—Sydney, Cape Breton's New Town, is Still Booming. He Says.

Charles Steckler of this city takes a vacation trip annually to some part of the world that he has not visited before, and on his way around the country he watches the things that are happening and studies them in a philosophical and contemplative mood. This year Mr. Steckler went through Canada and to the west coast of Newfoundland, visiting the land of Evangeline in Nova Scotia and afterward the coast fisheries of Newfoundland, over which there has been an endless dispute between England and France. Mr. Steckler traveled through the land of Acadia from Digby to Halifax. At Halifax Mayor Hamilton showed every courtesy to Mr. Steckler and the party with him and took especial pains to give an adequate idea of the community. Mr. Steckler says that the public gardens in Halifax are among the finest that he has ever seen. He visited them in company with the Mayor, and among the things, having in mind the fact that the park system of New York city is one of the most expensive of the public departments to maintain, he asked what the annual cost of carrying on the public garden system was.

"The people of New York," said Mr. Steckler last evening, "might learn something in the matter of administration of parks from the method that is employed in Halifax. There are acres after acres of the most magnificent parks, comparing very favorably with the parks in this city, which are administered and maintained at a relatively small cost to the city. The taxpaying public in Halifax pays for the parks only $2,000 a year to maintain, and that that cost was as much as they were willing to yield to any man in my admiration for the city, but there was a thing that amazed me. These gardens, as they are called there, are kept up by the maintenance of them up to the best standard. All of the walks and the terraces are kept in the finest condition and everything seems to have the most careful attention. The appearance of the parks was up to the standard that we ought to maintain in this town, and all of the details of the arrangements were excellent, notwithstanding the small amount of money that is spent on them."

Mayor Hamilton was very polite to us and he evidently wanted the most careful of our visit that there was deeper impression on us than the hospitality and the progressiveness of the city and its inhabitants. There was evidence of a more liberal spirit that was refreshing and inspiring, and the town shows the effect of such a condition of affairs."

"From Halifax we went by a sailing steamer, the Harlow, up the coast to the St. Peter's Canal, through the canal to the Bras d'Or Lakes, and then to the town of North Sydney. The town of North Sydney in a few years has grown from a population of 500 to one of 15,000 on account of the very large iron and steel works and the valuable coal deposits that are in vicinity, and the residents think that the development of the community has only begun. They think that the future of the town is in the hands of the people who are coming from Europe and England, and that their trade will grow to great proportions."

"We crossed the Gulf of St. Lawrence from North Sydney and made the west coast of Newfoundland at Port aux Basques. Then we skirted along the coast westward, and the north coast of the country, landing and talking with the residents and paying special attention to the political and social conditions. Along the coast the cliffs rise to a great height perpendicularly from the sea, black and forbidding. The country is, so far as we could see, wild and little settled. Agriculture and the dependence of the residents for a livelihood is on the fisheries. The cliffs show no green and no vegetation, and there seems to be no other life for the people to make a living out of the soil. The people are a strong and hardy race, and they do not seem to know what ill health is. Nearly all the men follow the sea, and there are many communities like the town of Bonne that have not a physician in their limits. There are 2,000 persons in Bonne, and not one of them has a doctor in the town."

"The laws against the sale of liquor are very strict and they are enforced rigorously. Our ship had a few cases of liquor on board, but they were not allowed to be sold. This was an offense and the authorities were not long in discovering that it had been committed. The men on board were fined any time, but they took the ship and fined it $50 and $50 costs, just to prove that they meant what they said when they enacted a law against the liquor traffic. There was no appeal and no stay of sentence and the ship's people were glad to get off as easily. With a rigid enforcement of the laws such as you may be sure that there is very little violation of them."

"Wherever we went we found that the people were making great preparations for the reception of the Duke and Duchess of York when they visit the colony. In every case the hamlets and towns are to be decorated and these are to be on a large scale. There is apparently a great deal of loyalty to the Crown, and this among the men and women who are least affected by the influence of the Government officials. The last point of land that the Duke will see as he leaves England is Cape Breton, and the people want to give him a good impression to take home with him."

CONSUL SOL BERLINER MARRIED.

Wood and Won His Bride by Letter While at His Post in the Canary Islands.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Sol Berliner, United States Consul at Tenerife, Canary Islands, was married at 2 o'clock this afternoon to Miss Jennie Ottenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Ottenberg of Washington. The ceremony, which took place in the hall of Carroll Institute, was the sequel to a courtship out of the ordinary, and in the congratulations that followed it was not forgotten that Mr. Berliner had won his bride in a somewhat romantic fashion.

More than a year ago Miss Ottenberg who is an enthusiastic philatelist, wrote to several United States Consuls, among them Mr. Berliner, asking their assistance in securing complete sets of stamps of the respective countries to which they were accredited. Mr. Berliner responded promptly and a correspondence ensued, which, after an exchange of photographs, resulted in a proposal by letter and a request to the State Department by Consul Berliner for leave of absence.

The gown of white duchesse silk worn by the bride to-day was embellished with drawn work wrought by natives of the Canary Islands, and was one of the groom's many and costly gifts. Judge Cawley of New York was best man, and Miss Bertha Ottenberg, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Berliner left New York this afternoon and will sail next Wednesday for Europe. After spending some time in London and on the Continent they will sail for Gibraltar for Mr. Berliner's post at Tenerife.

Punished by Whitecaps.

BERLIN, Ind., Sept. 1.—The citizens of Richland, a small town near here, recently notified Joseph Hankins, a farmer, that unless he ceased ill-treating his family they would punish him by giving him a severe flogging. Last night a party of whitecaps went to his residence, took him out and whipped him unmercifully. He promised to do better.

HASKIN GAINS TIME.

Justice Dugre Restraints the Demolition of the Restaurant Building.

Serving an injunction is not always an easy task. As James Allen found out on Saturday night, Mr. Allen is the legal adviser of George Haskin, who runs a restaurant at 117 West Thirty-fourth street. This building occupies part of the plot of ground on which Macy's new store is to be erected, but Haskin refuses to vacate until his lease expires three years hence unless he is well paid for doing so. When the George A. Fuller Company, the contractors who are doing the excavating and building, started on Saturday afternoon to raise the four upper floors over Haskin's place the restaurant man and his lawyer set out to find a Supreme Court Justice and procure an injunction. At 10 o'clock at night they found Justice Dugre and he granted a temporary order restraining the contractors. The motion to make this injunction permanent will be argued on Wednesday.

With the injunction in his pocket Mr. Allen hurried to the temporary office of the contractors in Thirty-fourth street. He called on the contractor in authority. None of the contractor's men was inclined to help him out and then he began to read the injunction to all who would listen. He called a policeman and asked him to escort George Haskin, one of the workmen, to the Tendoron police station. There Mr. Allen showed his injunction to Capt. Flood who ordered the watchmen to serve it on Haskin. Flood told Haskin he wasn't under arrest and he left the station house in a hurry without having seen the workman. When Mr. Allen left Haskin had gone to his home at Thirty-fourth street and tried to enter the restaurant. Two uniformed watchmen barred his way. The lawyer stormed and threatened, but to no effect. They had been ordered to obey their orders faithfully. Mr. Allen called on the police a second time to aid him. Capt. Flood went around with several of his men and ordered the watchmen to let the lawyer serve the injunction. Allen entered the building then and found Haskin on whom he served Justice Dugre's order. The workmen were called off shortly before midnight.

STAGE LINE TO NOME.

Trans-Alaskan Company to Carry Passengers and Freight Overland.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 1.—W. M. Rankin of San Francisco and Norman R. Smith of Dawson are the prime movers in the establishment of a 600-mile stage line between Ilamna Bay, Cook Inlet, along the western Alaska coast, and St. Michael and Nome. To carry it out the Trans-Alaskan Company will be incorporated. The first shipment of supplies and material was made last week.

Investigation shows that the route outlined is the shortest possible overland winter route to Nome. Both mails and mail matter will be carried. Horses will be used and more than 100 head will be needed.

The schooner Nellie Coleman has been chartered to carry supplies to the mouth of the Nushagak River, a tributary of Bristol Bay, whence her cargo will be transported up that river for the mail station. Numerous other stations will be established and supplied this fall with provisions. They will furnish accommodations for the mail and the mail matter during the winter months. Orders were given yesterday for 120 horse sleds and sixty sets of harness.

WILL OPPOSE FUSION.

Populists of Kansas Start a Movement for Individual Party Action.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 1.—The Populist leaders of Kansas, after a conference of two days, have decided to put new life into the party in the West, and Kansas in particular, by refusing to fuse with the Democrats, local or in state elections. A national state organ is to be established in Topeka, and local newspapers opposed to fusion with Democrats are to be started in every county. Mr. Anna Dugre is at the head of this movement. An appeal will be made to the Populists of Nebraska and other States to join the movement. The Kansas Populist party will be urged to endorse it. The Middle-of-the-Road leaders, who have formulated this plan, will start an agitation through the State, and will oppose one against trusts and in favor of public ownership of public utilities.

MR. WHELAN DOESN'T KNOW.

Refers the C. L. U. to the Council for Information as to Surface Car Laws.

The Central Labor Union some time ago wrote to Corporation Counsel Whelan asking for a copy of the ordinance relating to the starting and stopping of surface cars and the treatment of passengers. A letter was received at the union's meeting yesterday in which Mr. Whelan said he had never seen a printed copy of such an ordinance, and that he would refer the matter to the Council for Information as to Surface Car Laws.

OUT AGAINST FREE SILVER.

Atlanta Preacher, Back From Europe, Says Bryan is Wrong.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 1.—The Rev. Dr. Broughton, back from a European trip, has astonished his congregation by saying: "My tour of Europe has convinced me that Bryan's policy of free silver is wrong. For American money is in a bad shape and while Italian is not, Italy has the silver standard; we haven't."

"I believe also that we should have a protective tariff, for labor in Europe is cheaper than here."

THE SIXTY-NINTH IN BOSTON.

Rain Marks the First Day of the Visit of the New York Soldiers.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—With Col. Edward Duffy in command the Sixty-ninth Regiment of New York arrived here this morning at daybreak to be the guests of the Ninth Massachusetts until to-morrow night. The special train leaving for New York at 10 o'clock this morning was late and when they arrived at the Back Bay station at 4 o'clock this morning a rain was blowing and a heavy drizzle coming down. The rain fell in torrents during the night and much of the pleasure of the New Yorkers was spoiled.

A SUICIDE AT ST.

Jathry Feared He Might Live to Be as Old as His Father, Who Was 100.

ST. JAMES, I. I., Sept. 1.—George Jathry, 81 years of age, committed suicide today by taking strychnine. His father lived to be 100, and he feared that he might live beyond the century mark he decided to end his life.

MURDERERS MAKE UP MOBS.

NEGRO PREACHER DENOUNCES THE WORK OF LYNCHERS.

The Rev. Dr. James Bond of Nashville uttered a Protest and an Appeal in Behalf of His Race—He Denies That the Mob Are Made Up of "Best Citizens."

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 1.—The Rev. Dr. James Bond, pastor of the Howard Congregational Church, colored, one of the best educated negroes in the South, preached a sermon to-day on "Mob Violence," in which he arraigned the members of mob as common murderers, declaring that mobs are composed of the worst elements of citizens in the land of the best, as is generally supposed.

In his sermon Mr. Bond said that because one negro out of a million has committed heinous crimes, the entire race was held before the world as "rascals, murderers and cutthroats." He prefaced his remarks by saying that he spoke in the spirit of love and in the interest of peace. He was not talking in the defiance of the destroyer of virtue and the sanctity of the law, but in the interest of the negroes. He said that the better element of the race is being driven out of the country by the "nameless crimes," for which the entire race is made to suffer.

"The innocent negro," he said, "is made to bear the sins of a few of the most degraded members of his race, in addition to the prejudice which he must meet at every turn. Because of the crime of one in a million of his people a crime which he has not committed, he is branded as a race of rapists, cutthroats, murderers, savages—and this in spite of the splendid record he has made under most adverse conditions and in the face of stupendous difficulties."

"Then, again, he is the object of further misrepresentation in that wherever the mob does its bloody work it is branded as a crime of the race, while he may have been guilty of no crime at all or of any crime in the category from the nameless crime to petty theft."

"I appeal to the President of the United States, Governors, Sheriffs, Judges and Jurors and countrymen everywhere to rise in their might and defend the rights of the colored people. We hold dear to our homes and hearts. This appeal is reasonable. It is urgent. It must be heeded. While the mob is in the court house justifies the citizens in the street, makes night hideous with shots and shouts and yells, and defies officers, ransoms law under feet, nothing can be done."

"That the spirit of mob violence is growing no one will dispute, and the whole world must look on with horror at the record for the past month of August is sufficient proof of the truth of these statements, a record which I venture to say is unequalled in the history of this nation upon the face of the globe. There have been twenty mobs, eight of which were repelled by officers. Two were successful in their purpose, and nine have accomplished their purpose, disposing of at least fourteen men, women and children. Ten have been hanged and shot. Thirteen were colored, two of whom were women, and one was a white man. Only five of these at least were innocent of the crime charged."

"The full record can never be written. It cannot be collected. The Constitution is trampled upon, laws broken, officers perjured, industrial activity arrested, property destroyed, capital invested and discouraged, and the moral poison, seeds of rebellion, youth contaminated, homes broken up, innocent and unprotected, driven away from home and made to flee for their lives."

"And this is a partial incomplete record for a single month. What will be at the end of a year? Mobs are the very incarnation of disorder. If these are our best citizens, the Lord protect us from our worst. But they are not our best citizens. They are our worst."

"The best citizenship, the true aristocracy of the South, the best blood of the South, do not join our mobs. They have no sympathy with them. If the mob can hang a black man with impunity, it will soon hang a white man. If a negro is a dangerous citizen, a white man will soon disappear for the same reason."

"The mob does not discriminate between the property of white and black men. What is the remedy for this evil? There is only one. It is a healthy, wholesome public sentiment. There should be no more mobs. We have no more mobs, because of a lack of public sentiment to sustain them. Members of mobs are murderers."

WOMAN FLAT ROBBER.

Storage Place for Her Goods Found and Her Husband Arrested.

When the police of the West Sixty-eighth street station arrested Kate Dykman on Friday night after she had stolen a servant girl's pocketbook at 3 o'clock, they were from the starting and stopping of surface cars and the treatment of passengers. A letter was received at the union's meeting yesterday in which Mr. Whelan said he had never seen a printed copy of such an ordinance, and that he would refer the matter to the Council for Information as to Surface Car Laws.

Treavor had traced the woman, after visiting a half dozen of her past residences, to 329 East Twelfth street, where he returned to the station house. The woman was found in a room, and the supposed confederate of the woman was with her.

CHINESE REFORMS.

Court Order Practiced Changes in the Examination.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 1.—An edict issued on Friday in the name of the Emperor ordains a new system of official examinations. It abolishes the literary essays and substitutes therefor a practical discussion of three classes of subjects, namely, Chinese affairs, Western matters and classical literature. This applies to the prefectural, provincial and metropolitan examinations. The edict also abolishes the ancient military examinations and substitutes practical training in military science. These changes will go into effect next year.

Sept. 1.—The direct supervision of the Chinese police and the carrying out of sanitary, street and other improvements by foreigners ceased yesterday, when Capt. Selwyn withdrew his force from the British section of the Tartar city. The British will, however, continue to police the main thoroughfare, the railway and the foreign police employed, but the British and Japanese reserve police authority in their sections pending their evacuation. The detachment of the American legation guard, which has been recuperating in the western hills returned yesterday.

TURKISH RECEPTION IN PARIS.

Ambassador Holds One in Honor of the Sultan—No Change in the Dispute.

PARIS, Sept. 1.—Munir Bey, the Turkish Ambassador, held a reception at the embassy this afternoon on the occasion of the anniversary of the Sultan's accession to the throne. The guests were all members of the Turkish colony of Turks visiting Paris.

The Franco-Turkish situation is, so far as can be ascertained, unchanged. Nothing further is heard of the suggestion that the Sultan appeal to Emperor William to arbitrate the dispute. The Government has thought it worth while to deny rumors in consequence of the strain between the Sultan and France.

The Temps to-day replies to the Turkish circular in an article, which, it is generally presumed, was inspired by the Foreign Office. It expresses the hope that a settlement will be speedily effected, but says that Turkey has a great deal more to do than to demand the return of Constantinople.

TRIED FOR AIDING BOERS.

British to Punish Men Who Have Broken Their Oath of Neutrality.

PRETORIA, Sept. 1.—Van Aartsen and Trouw, two Hollanders, were tried by court-martial yesterday for breaking their oath of neutrality and aiding the Boer army. The court-martial was held at the main military camp. The two defendants were charged with having given by accomplices in an expedition to a Boer commando. The party left Pretoria on Aug. 4, stayed four days with the commando and returned to Pretoria at 2 A. M. Aug. 9. Judgment in the case has not yet been rendered. This is the first of a series of important trials. Advocate Lohman, counsel for the Netherlands Railway, if so be a Dutchman, defended the accused. Many Boer sympathizers are under arrest for aiding the burghers.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Gen. Kitchener reports to the War Office that the casualties attending the blowing up of a train by Boers between Waterfall and Noman's Kraal yesterday were ten killed, including Lieut.-Col. Vandouler, and seventeen wounded. The train's escort numbered forty-five men.

CHILD DIES OF HYDROPHOBIA.

Pasture Institute Treatment of No Avail in Dorothy Kohlmeier's Case.

Dorothy Kohlmeier, the seven-year-old daughter of John Kohlmeier, a hardy merchant who lives at Sixty-second street and Second avenue, died last night at the home of her parents of hydrophobia. In June the little girl was sitting on the stoop of her house when a stray dog, apparently a mongrel, sprang at her and bit her on the cheek, nose and lip. Dr. Mundy of 308 East Sixty-second street was called and he administered the Pasteur Institute treatment. The dog was killed and the child was taken to the Pasteur Institute, where she received the regular course of treatment. She recovered, but she was still ill, and during the last few weeks had been visiting relatives in the country. At the beginning of last week she returned home and complained of feeling ill. On Friday symptoms of hydrophobia developed and although Mr. Kohlmeier sought the advice of several doctors he was informed by them that they could do nothing for the little sufferer. The spasms which seized her on Friday grew worse and worse, and she died yesterday in convulsions. One of the peculiar features of the case, Mr. Kohlmeier said, was that the influenza, which she had contracted, had been administered.

PLANS FOR LABOR'S HOLIDAY.

CELEBRATION TO BE LESS FORMAL THAN USUAL.

There Will Be Only a Small Parade in Manhattan, but There Will Be Many Picnics and Athletic Games in Nearby Resorts—Outings of Drivers and Poets.

Labor Day has come more and more to be a day for rest and recreation rather than active demonstration by the hosts of workers in whose honor it has been set aside as a holiday. The usual parade will be held to-day, but it is to be a comparatively secondary feature. Outings and picnics and sports of every kind will claim the attention of the vast majority.

There is probably not a suitable green spot between the Westchester boundary line and Tottenville that will lack to-day its crowd of merry-makers, provided always that the weather is favorable. And, weather or no weather, there will be the outings of the great rival organizations of P. Dwyer and Tom Foley. The Foleyite gathering, which is officially designated as the "annual outing and dinner of the Downtown Tammany Club," will be held at Stinson's Park, Whitehouse, L. I. The faithful will parade from the clubhouse at Chambers street to the foot of Roosevelt street, East River where the steamer Magenta and three barges will take them on board. The hour of embarkation is 9 o'clock. The Foleyites of the occasion will be multiplied by the presence of Senator Timothy D. Sullivan, who has come back from Saratoga for the express purpose of showing on his return to the city the results of his struggle with the spreading disease of dust, poverty and sulphurous ejaculations of the Second Assembly district. The Foleyites of former Judge Dwyer will celebrate at Point View Grove, College Point, leaving Market street and East River at 10 o'clock.

The Hungarian Republican Club of Greater New York will have an outing to Karantonyi & Kmetz's vineyards at the foot of the Second Avenue. The national festival with wild carols danced to the wild music of gypsy bands. The club has also announced that the principal speaker of the occasion will be Vice-President Roosevelt. However, the Vice-President left Chicago last night and will be in Minneapolis to-day, so there must be a misunderstanding somewhere.

District Assembly 220, R. L. will have an outdoor festival at Ulmer Park. The Richmond Hill, L. I. Fire Department is having a parade and tournament at Richmond Hill. The Caledonian Club will indulge themselves with a number of Scottish games at Washington Park near Scotchfield.

HAD A DEADLY SNAKE.

And Didn't Know the Kind of Reptile He Was Lugging Around.

Charles Meyer, who lives near the New York Zoological Park, went to Assistant Curator Dittmar of the park yesterday to ask him to look at a snake which he had brought to show to the park authorities. He then produced a little "boarded box" in which he said there was a snake. "The snake," said Meyer, "was given to me by Charles P. Benedict of 172 Broadway. He found it in a bunch of bananas." Mr. Dittmar looked at the snake and said it was a deadly snake. Meyer told Mr. Dittmar that he was one of the deadliest snakes in the world. Mr. Meyer could not tell what the snake was, but he said it was a deadly snake. It was in a tin box which bore a skull-and-crossbones label and a big "danger."

POLICE STORM COMING.

At Headquarters It's So Quiet They Expect Something to Drop.

The case of Policeman Onell may come before Commissioner Murphy in official form to-day and the Police Department is pretty certain that the Colonel will have an excuse for putting the fine of thirty days' pay imposed on the policeman by Deputy Commissioner Devery. The Commissioner stayed at Park Row yesterday and he would take about the fine he said: "I cannot express an opinion until I get the official papers." Mr. Devery charged him with insubordination.

3-MASTER MADE EUROPE STARE.

The Schooner Palmer Returns From an Ocean-Crossing Voyage.

The five-masted fore-and-aft clipper Rebecca Palmer, which arrived yesterday from Fowey, England, with a cargo of China clay, is probably the first vessel of her kind ever seen in a foreign port on the other side of the Atlantic. She sailed from New York on her maiden trip across seas on May 13, and made Havre yesterday. She covered the course from Fowey in thirty days, logging some fine single day runs. She is slim-spurred, white-hulled and shapely and generally has the aspect of a racing vessel. Her measurements are 2,125 tons and 230 feet long.

W. C. WHITNEY'S HORSES TO RACE IN CALIFORNIA.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1.—Manager Charles F. Price of the California Jockey Club passed through here to-night, returning from a trip to New York in the interests of the club. This will be the first appearance of these stables on the Pacific coast.

SOLDIERS TOOK THE BRIDGE.

Also Commissioner Moore—Cops Go to His Rescue—No Cannibals or Arrets.

The Twelfth Regiment went into camp on Saturday on the grounds of the King estate on City Island, where they will stay for a week. The soldiers were kept busy on Saturday and most of yesterday patching tents and getting things settled in general, so when everything was in shape last night the soldier boys felt like having a good time. Filled with merriment and other things, a detachment of ten men who were stationed on the bridge which connects City Island with Pelham Park engaged in "buck" dances and sang songs with such fervor that at 10:30 o'clock James D. Prout, superintendent of the bridge, and three assistants went to the bridge and asked them to stop.

"Go home yourselves," the soldiers yelled. After many attempts to get the detachment to disperse, and his men not being able to get the detachment to disperse, the superintendent and his assistants were marched off to the station. On the way there they were met by Police Men, Sisson and Hobbey of the City Island substation, who were informed as to the nature of the trouble. Commissioner Moore told the cops that he was about to be looked up and had been shamefully treated, whereupon the cops said they would look up the matter. The soldiers threatened to look the cops up, but after considerable persuasion they were induced to go to the police station and wait for the cops to come.

Once inside the station the ten guardsmen lost some of their valor and said they had been joking. It was decided to let the soldiers return to the scene of action and ordered the men to behave themselves or leave the bridge.

SUICIDE OF A PRISON GUARD.

Didn't Want to Testify at a Murder Trial and Killed Himself.

CLARK, Pa., Sept. 1.—R. G. Hunter, a guard of the Western Penitentiary at Allegheny, committed suicide in the woods yesterday by shooting himself in the head. Hunter came here a few days ago with six other guards and fifteen prisoners, all of the latter and some of the guards being summoned as witnesses in the trial of a man named Murphy charged with the murder of William Riser. The convicts were in the jail here confined with Murphy and they will testify to things that they heard and that were told to them.

PROBATIONARY LAW IN EFFECT.

No Officers Yet Appointed—They Serve Without Pay.

According to a law which went into effect yesterday the Justices of all courts in the State having jurisdiction over criminal action are empowered and required to appoint what will be known as probationary officers of the courts. The law provides that they will be to inquire into the antecedents of persons as requested by the courts, and to keep track of all persons on whom sentence is suspended.

DENIALS FROM ONEILL'S Foe.

Didn't Have Anybody Transferred, He Says—Fined $3 for Fighting.

Charles Schnakenberg, the saloonkeeper who has got out of the saloon business since Policeman Oneill was transferred out of the West 125th street station for arresting him, denied when he was arraigned in the Harlem police court yesterday, that he had conspired with Oneill to have his neighbor, Mr. Martha Schnakenberg, assaulted whom he was arrested on Saturday night.

BEN JOHNSON SAYS AMERICAN LEAGUE WILL NOT PUT A TEAM IN CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1.—President Ben Johnson of the American League, was in this city to-day visiting his parents. He said regarding the two leagues: "There will be no compromise. If we put teams in more cities it will be a war measure. There is no truth in the rumor that we at present contemplate putting a team in Cincinnati. The year with us has been remarkably successful."
